Congress Has Meagre Record of Accomplishments . . . But Leaders Are Pressing for July Adjournment . . .

From some of the statements issued by our Congressional leaders in Washington one might assume that their most important objective is to accomplish an adjournment early in the summer in order to set the stage for a long sum-

A year from now, that situation will be even more pronounced, and the members will be chafing to wind up their business in order to get back to their districts, build up their political fences and start campaigning for reelection.

The same thing holds true to a lesser degree in our Massachusetts Legislature, despite the painful lesson learned last year from the scandals resulting from the outrageous prorogation "gold rush," when many lawmakers claimed they didn't realize what was happening.

Senator William F. Knowland of California declared the other day that there is "overwhelming sentiment" in the House and "preponderant sentiment" in the Senate for an adjournment in July and not reconvening until the fall.

Taxpayers Glad 1/2 Million Surplus Voted

"We are glad we got that much but we think more should have been voted," commented Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., Executive Director of the Newton Taxpayers' Association while discussing the vote of the Aldermen to use a half million dollars of available funds to benefit 1953 tax rate instead of the million dollars recommended by the Association.

"The Aldermen's vote insures modest reduction from the $45.80 peak," stated Muther, "and since it has been a major part of the Association's program this year to revise the trend to ever higher tax rates we are glad that this will be accomplished for the first time since 1944. The divergence of the viewpoints of the Aldermen and the Association is due to the differing emphasis the groups placed on the situation in 1944." 'continued Muther.

The Aldermen's spokesman forecast another $700,000 increase in the budget next year and intimated that a million dollars of new money would be found then. His view that the surplus should be used to compensate for, and otherwise possible violated, fluctuating tax rate was adopted—with debate—by the Board. The Association's position is that with things going on as they are the taxpayers should not be required to raise funds for a future year as well as a current year when it is possible to lower the tax rate safely.

"However, the Association," Muther concluded, "will continue to strive as it did last year to insure the possible reduction in the 1953 tax rate by other

Dr. Olivia Pearl Stokes, newly appointed Director of the Department of Religious Education of the Massachusetts Council of Churches, was the main speaker. In her talk, "The Mission of the Church in Christian Education" Dr. Stokes pointed out that the work the church can accomplish in the rest of the world depends on the quality of the work it does in this country. Christian Education is concerned, she said, with three items: persons seek-ing to become members of a fellowship, developing individuals into worthwhile members of the community, and promoting a finer and stronger Judeo-Christian relationship.

Political Overtones

From some of the statements issued by our Congressional leaders in Washington one might assume that their most important objective is to accomplish an adjournment early in the summer in order to set the stage for a long summer vacation.

A year from now, that situation will be even more pronounced, and the members will be chafing to wind up their business in order to get back to their districts, build up their political fences and start campaigning for reelection.

The same thing holds true to a lesser degree in our Massachusetts Legislature, despite the painful lesson learned last year from the scandals resulting from the outrageous prorogation "gold rush," when many lawmakers claimed they didn't realize what was happening.

Senator William F. Knowland of California declared the other day that there is 'overwhelming sentiment" in the House and "preponderant sentiment" in the Senate for an adjournment in July and not recessing until the fall.

Newton GOP Solon Aids Democratic Mayor

A Newton Republican led the fight in the State Senate this week for the passage of a bill which would enable Mayor John B. Hynes to carry out a reorganization of Boston's municipal government in order to accomplish substantial savings.

A South Boston Democrat opposed the adoption of the bill in the form submitted by Hynes and battled to write an amendment into it which the Mayor has protested would hamstring him and hamper his efforts to achieve an effective reorganization.

Senator Richard H. Lee of Newton pointed out that the amendment proposed by Democratic Floor Leader John E. Powers would make it necessary for Hynes to retain every employee in precisely the job he held before the reorganization so that a ferry captain would have to be kept in command of a ferry, even though the city had discontinued its ferry service.

That idea doesn't make much sense either to Hynes or Lee, and it is one of the reasons the Democratic Boston Mayor is incensed with the Democratic members of the State Legislature and has privately threatened to sit on his hands when the Democrats are battling to regain control of the State government next year.

Senator Powers announced that he is a good and true friend of Mayor Hynes and has a high regard, indeed, for the Boston Mayor. Powers then persisted in his unsuccessful battle for the adoption of the amendment which would tie Hynes' hands.

Lee didn't say whether he's a friend of Hyres or not, but he insisted that the Hub Mayor should be allowed a free hand to streamline Boston's unwieldy city govern-ment and to put his ideas into operation.

It reminded us of the story of the hungry hobo who was seeking a handout and rang the front doorbells of a number of homes, asking for food, only to be turned away politely from the first five houses at which he stopped.

At the sixth dwelling a stern-visaged housewife blasted him for ringing her front doorbell and interrupting her work and told him in angry tones that if he wanted some food to get around to the back door where he belonged. "Thank The Lord," sighed the tramp. "At last I'm among friends."

Practical-minded, realistic Mayor Hynes is probably a great deal more interested in how the legislators vote on the bills he is striving to have enacted into law than in their professions of admiration and esteem.

He must be just a little weary by now of legislators who sing his praises and then vote against him. It's very likely that the Republicans will remind both Hynes and the people of Boston next year that they had to step in time and again to prevent his alleged friends from scuttling his measures.

Legislators Attempt to Scuttle Erena Bill

So much misinformation has been disseminated and so many misstatements issued concerning the purchase of the Boston Arena for the high school teams of Greater Boston that it is about time to clear the record on who did what.

Governor Herter and Boston's Mayor Hynes were the two men who worked out the plan for having the Arena taken over by the Metropolitan District Commission, and then the bill to carry out their proposal was pushed through the Legislature by Republi-

The fact of the matter is that when the bill for the purchase of the Arena was before the State Senate a number of the prominent Democratic members fought to stall and block it, and such Republicans as State Senator Philip G. Bowker of Brookline and Charles W. Hedges of Quincy had to battle for its passage.

This writer took a seat in the Senate gallery, when the Arena purchase bill was for engrossment, to observe exactly what some of our statesmen, who periodically beat their breasts about combatting juvenile delinquency and providing proper recreational facilities for the youth of Greater Boston, did on the matter.

Democratic State Senator Daniel Rud-sten of Dorchester moved that action be postponed for one week. That was clearly a stalling tactic. He argued that there was "something extremely smelly about this whole bill" and asserted that the Arena is "filthy" and is "broken down and dilapidat-

Democratic Senate Floor Leader John E. Powers joined in the move to stall the bill and supported Rudsten's motion for a postponement. Republican Senator Hedges of Quincy argued against postponement and urged that the matter be acted upon prompt-

"Rudsten predicted that the Arena will be "G.O.P. white elephant." Democratic Senator Michael A. Flanagan said that every once in a while a "gigantic white elephant" is brought into the Legislature. Powers said that if the Arena could have been operated at a profit, Mayor Hynes would have bought it. Rudsten added that the idea of selling the Arena to the State was a plot by a group of "financial buccaneers."

That's probably enough detail to give you a fairly clear idea of how much the Democratic State Senators helped in the move to purchase the Arena so the high school teams of Greater Boston might have a place in which to play their hockey games. They would have succeeded in sabotaging and scuttling the move if it were not for the influence of Governor Herter who felt a rink should be provided for schoolboy teams.

When Is a Republican Not a Republican?

Governor Herter and top Republican leaders recently waged an all-out fight in Brockton in behalf of G.O.P. Candidate Wilfred A. Desrosier in a special election that was being held to fill a vacancy in the State Legislature caused by the death of a former

The district in which the election was being held is normally a Democratic one, but the Governor, Chairman Elmer Nelson of the Republican State Committee and Speaker Charles Gibbons saw a chance to accomplish the election of Desrosier, and they put their prestige on the line and made a real drive for him.

Desrosier was elected to the surprise of many political observers. He had been in the House less than a week, when he was talking of changing his party enrollment and becoming a Democrat.

On one of the rollcalls on the question granting a raise to State employees, he of him and he is not authorized did not vote when his name was called and later was incensed when Speaker Gibbons did not recognize him, explaining that the reason he hadn't recorded himself was that he was waiting to see how the vote was go-

That is one example of political gratitude, and we suspect that even staunch Democrats must regard Representative Desrosier with a measure of scorn. His legislative career is likely to be a very brief one.

Zoning Problem

Editor, Graphic: We, as Newton homeowners living in a single residence B sent a real threat to the attractiveness and property values in neighborhoods such as ours throughout the city. We base this opinion on the following facts:

The City zoning ordinance pro vides that a new dwelling cannot be erected on a lot less than 10,000 square feet in a single B district. It is, however, possible to build a home on land appreciably less than this minimum area if the dimensions of the lot were established prior to 1940.

Set-back rulings for single residence B districts indicate the required distances between the dwelling and the street or abutting properties. This apparent safeguard, however, has been nullified by a recent amendment to the zoning laws which permits the overriding of minimum set-backs for small lots estab-"lished prior to 1940.

As a result of the looseness with which these existing zo ing laws may now be interpreted, it is possible for variances to be granted so that a home may be legally erected on a lot of less than 2400 square feet in residential sections where the average properties exceed 10,000

These existing building and zoning regulations not only offer inadequate protection to present home owners in single residence B districs, but they may well temper any enthusiasm for purchasing a home in this city.

The need for remedying the present situation is clear. More home owners need to become aware of the problem and to request appropriate action by the responsible local governing body of this community.

Break in Main Affects City's Water Supply

A break in the Metropolitan District Commission's 60-inch water main near Norumbega Park last Thursday affected nearly one-third of Newton when the city was forced to switch back to its own water supply system.

The emergency use of the city's system resulted in discoloration of water in Newton Corner, Newtonville, West Newton and a portion of Newton Centre.

the north lane of Commonwealth avenue near Norumbega late Thursday. At first the MDC attempted to repair the fissure without shutting off the water, but the main was closed early Friday morning. Two gates in the city's own system were opened at 6 a.m. Friday to supply the affected areas .

Further discoloration occurred Tuesday when the two city gates were closed, reversing the flow of water. Although the damage had been repaired by Monday, the switch back to the MDC system was not made so that housewives would have a clear supply of water for their traditional Monday washes.

Climaxing one of the greatest comebacks in Newton Hodgdon Asks High School sports annals, the Tigers mauled Brookline, 11-1, Monday night in a special playoff for the Suburban League championship at Boston College's Alumni Field. . . . After Brookline ran wild over the Orange and Black in their first encounter of the season to the tune of 9-0, the worst defeat ever suffered by a Howie Ferguson coached Newton nine, the Orange and Black took a pair of "must" games from their arch-rivals to walk off with the championship. Their game comeback kept Fergy's record intact of either tying or winning the Suburban League title since he took over Jeff Jones' managerial reins.

Although it was the nine men on the field who caught the balls and ran the bases, a great deal of the victory belongs to Coach Ferguson, who has clearly established himself as the top schoolboy coach locally. And you'd have trouble finding another as good anywhere in the United States.

Newton this year did not have as strong a team as has represented it in the past. All-scholastic Willard Hamill was the only batter to make opposing pitchers tremble. The Tigers outstanding pitcher was Red Fitzgerald, but "against progress and progressive measures whether sponsored sive measures whether sponsored." he lost an argument to a pane of glass and was lost to the team halfway through the season with a severe cut on his pitching hand. . . . When Newton fell apart at home against Watertown to lose, 11-3, and then blew a game at Waltham with two gone in the ninth inning, the local outlook was mighty black, to say the least. . . . Then Ferguson reached into his bag of tricks and came up with Dick Allen, senior right-hander who before this year had never started a game in varsity competition. Newton played host to Brookline, needing the victory to tie for the crown, Wednesday of last week. The Wealthy Towners loaded the bases in the first inning with no one out, bringing back memories of the first Brookline game when eight runs scored before Newton could retire the side. . . . But Allen ,strong as an ox and remarkably cool, got out of the inning by striking out the next two men and retiring the third on a fly ball. As itative positions in our State things turned out, that inning marked the end of the season for Brookline. They never again came close to winning the title....Allen moved into high gear, mowing Brookother's morale. The film "Weight Reduction Through Diet" helped line down for five innings until rains forced a halt to the scoreless tie. The next day, as play continued from the same point, Allen was even sharper and completely throttled the visitors while Newton rallied for three tallies in the eighth frame for the victory. . . . Last Friday Newton had a field day against Rindge Tech, blasting the Cantabs, 18-2, to move into a first-place tie with Brookline.

Monday night the Orange and Black proved its right to the title "Yankees of the Suburban League," tagged on them by former coach and Braves scout Jeff Jones. Five runs in the first inning wrapped up the game as Allen, apparently feeling no effect of his two-day marathon, limited Brookline to five hits and one unearned run.

The victory qualified the Tigers for the state schoolboy tourney. Newton's 1st opponent was scheduled to be Concord in a 4 p.m. game yesterday (Wednesday), too late to be included in this week's edition. Regardless of the outcome of the state competition, the Tigers of 1953 will go down in local sports history as one of the most courageous and fighting-est teams ever to carry ern Toll Roads. Walter A. Hodgdon of 313 Washington street Newton, can-didate for mayor of Newton, recommended the construction of the East-West highway as a "double-tier modern toll skyway above the tracks" of the Boston and Albany Railroad, in a letter Monday to Gov. Christian A. Herter

Mr. Hodgdon wrote that only 'invalid" objections would come from the railroad and "from certain thoughtless and professional politicians."

The letter follows:

"My understanding being that you want an East to West Toll Road, I lay before you, herewith, my conception of how the eastern end of this highway, starting in Boston and running level and straight to a point near Framingham or near Worcester can be completed without the taking of valuable properties that would be necessary under the present plans that are being considered by those in author

"My plan is to build a double tier modern Toll Skyway above the tracks and right of way of the main line of the Boston and Albany Railroad. One roadway would take the traffic eastward towards Boston. The other roadway of the tier of two roads, either the one above or the one below, would route the traffic westward.

"In my opinion, invalid objections would emanate only from the Boston and Albany Railroad and, possibly, from certain thoughtless professional politicians, such as the present head of the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representain the coming non-partisan elecbusiness conditions in Metropolitan Boston or along the route of the Toll Skyway to the cities and towns and counties in the central and western part of our great State.

Another Goal Achieved

Today the Graphic proudly announces that it has reached the highest paid circulation ever achieved in the City of Newton by any daily or weekly newspaper.

Audited circulation figures show that The Newton Graphic now reaches 10,159 families in the Newtons.

That is the greatest circulation this newspaper has attained since it was founded in 1872, and its family of readers in Newton now is greater than that of any weekly or metropolitan daily newspaper.

These figures have been officially audited and certified, as is attested on Page 3 in this issue. The Graphic is proud, indeed, to present them.

The Graphic will endeavor not only to maintain but also to justify its position as the best read newspaper in Newton, and to our many readers we both express our thanks and pledge a continuation of the policies that have been instrumental in making the Graphic their community newspaper.

To the merchants and business firms - the Graphic reaches a far greater audience than any other single advertising medium in the Newton market and offers the most effective and economical way to reach these 10,159 families each week.

New MTA Trustees End Do-Nothing Policy . . . Herter Board Tackles Large Deficit . .

Governor Herter's new MTA trustees have made it plain that they intend to do something about the road's staggering financial problem, which is placing so heavy a tax burden upon the home-owners in Newton and 13 other cities and towns, and that they don't intend merely to let matters drift along, as did their predecessors for many months before they went out of office.

There was an air of hopelessness to the attitude of the former trustees who were legislated out of office by Mr. Herter in his move to reorganize the MTA system. They not only advanced no constructive ideas of their own, but when General Manager Edward Dana offered some suggestions they cracked down on him and publicly re-

In one sense the MTA is the biggest headache inherited by the Herter administration. The road lost about $8,500,-000 last year, and the deficit would have been close to $10,-000,000 except for a windfall resulting from a court decision in a federal tax case.

The road's problem can be summed up concisely. It stems from rising costs and declining revenue, with a steadily growing number of persons using automobiles instead of riding on the MTA.

are scheduled to be dropped at the end of this month unless the Board of Aldermen at their June 15 meeting vote to extend the controls under arbitrary power granted by the state.

All indications seem to be that the controls will be allowed to pass into disuse along with other restrictions left over from World War II. The city must act before the end of the month or the controls will automatically lapse.

The possibility of the passing of rent ceilings has been watched with more than passing interest by Newton residents who rent their dwellings. The Graphic has already received several calls from non-homeowners who were wary of the consequences. What the result will be of the dropping of the controls is anybody's guess, but it seems certain that a general round of increases will follow next month. The question on the minds of those who rent is "how much? Tenants seem to agree that some increases would be justi-fied, since many landlords who were not up-to-date on rent con-trol regulations fell behind the general rent trends.

circles have predicted that the dropping of controls would be followed by a raise in rentals beyond reason.

A zone system of fares, such as the MTA trustees are contemplating putting into effect, is not likely to be particularly popular, especially with those people who travel long distances and will be forced to pay higher

But something has to be done about the WTA. The trustees simply can't coast along, permitting the deficit to soar higher each succeeding year, and the main criticism of the Dever trustees was that during their last two years they adopted what appeared to be a do-nothing attitude.

Some savings probably can be accomplished by the MTA officials through a nohiring policy and steps to curtail service in areas where it is being provided at a heavy

It would be ridiculous, however, to think that enough economiccs can be affected to make even a substantial bite into the deficit, and they may not even be great enough to offset the salary increase which an arbitration board undoubtedly will award to the MTA workers.

The unhappy fact of the matter is that it now costs the MTA more than 15 cents to transport a passenger from Newton to downtown Boston or even more distant points, and when you stop to consider what 15 cents will purchase under present-day oonditions, it must be conceded that the MTA furnishes pretty reasonable transportation.

As property-owners prepare to pay heavy tax bill this year, which will include a very substantial item for the MTA, the manner in which the trustees of the road are approaching their problem is somewhat re-

Will There Be Another "Gold Rush" Session? Democrats Hope to Regain House Seats . . .

One of the factors which contributed to the defeat of ex-Governor Dever at the polls last November was the scandalous prorogation "gold rush" of early July in the State Legislature, when measures granting pay raises, lush pensions, travel and lunch expenses and creating new jobs, were enacted in the early hours while members dozed wearily at their desks.

A storm of public protests following the disclosures weeks later of what had happened during the hurly-burly as the State law-makers raced to conclude their business, sent the legislators scurrying back into special session last September and played a part in turning the political tide against the Democratic ticket.

As a result of that bitter controversy, political observers will be watching to see what happens this year, when the Legis-lature nears the end of its session, and whether there is any repetition of the outrageous occurrences of a year ago.

Weary legislators, apprehensive over the possibility that they might be heaved out of office by their indignant constituents, solemnly announced at the extraordinary proceedings in September that never again would they sit in all-night proceedings.

Speaker Charles Gibbons of the House of Representatives, who himself was unaware of the measures slipped through under his nose on the early morning of last July Fourth, is probably much too shrewd to allow deliberations to get out of hand in the close of this legislative session, anxious as some of the legislators may be to wind up their business and start their vacations. But it would be well for members of both the House and Senate to recognize that the general public would be likely to take a very dim view of any all-night or early morning sessions which might cause legislators once again to protest that some bill must have been passed while they were taking a little

An order calling for the appointment of a committee to bring in a plan for revising the Congressional districts will be adopted before the end of the legislative session, and early next year the districts undoubtedly will be revamped.

It is very safe to forecast that the Republicans will attempt to strengthen the election prospects of two or three G.O.P. Congressmen, including Angier Goodwin, who each Fall is forced to fight for his political life, and that enough Republican strength may be added to the district of Congressman Edward Boland in Western Massachusetts to swing it to the G.O.P.

The Democratic strategy is gradually becoming clear. They intend to campaign next year against the record of this 83rd Congress, not against President Eisenhower, for whose personal popularity they have a very healthy respect. Whether the Democratic chieftains are overly and prematurely optimistic is something that only time will tell.

It is an understatement to say that the record of this Congress so far has been an unimpressive one, and the appelation, "do-nothing Congress," while not entirely accurate, is also not completely unwarranted.

But the most important part of the record of this Congress will be made in 1954an election year-and if taxes are reduced next January, it undoubtedly will make an important impact upon public sentiment.

The political picture could and probably will change tremendously during the next 15 months, and a gerat many people have adopted a let's-wait-and-see attitude toward the Eisenhower administration. The record of the 83rd Congress may be vastly different by the Fall of 1954.

Many Services Available to Armed Forces The Home Services Director of the Newton Chapter, American Red Cross, wishes to again call to the attention of Newton people a Red Cross service which may be of great importance and value to our men and women in the Armed Forces.

A few days prior to induction each draftee and his family receives a letter from Home Ser vice explaining the many and varied services available to them through their Red Cross, the Field Director in camps, or at the front and the local Chapter at Because experience has shown that the draftee does not always read his mail, Mr. William E. Halliday, Jr., a member of the Home Service Committee, is now giving a brief explanation of these services at each draftee send-off.

'It is the enlisted man and his family which we are not always able to contact," said the Direc-tor. "As Selective Service continues, it became increasingly difficult to obtain names of enlisted personnel. There is no way of to be aware of the assistance Red Cross stands ready to render, especially in emergencies involving either the service man away or his folks back home.

"If anyone knows of any per son at present in the armed forces who has not entered through the draft, the Newton Red Cross would greatly appreciate such information." "If our files show he or she has not received our service letter, we wish to mail one to him and one to his family. So often a serious emergency arises and we find they have forgotten or were not awar of the assistance available to them by or through their Red Cross. We wish to be of service whether draftee or enlisted man.

Today's salad recipe combines the dark green of cool cucumbers and the bright red of radishes with crisp celery in a refreshing jellied ring. If you don't have a ring mold a custard cup placed up-side-down in a large flat bowl will make one in a jiffy.

The ring is filled with a sea-soned cottage cheese mixture. It's a salad that can be prepared in advance and is easy to serve so

For added interest, instead of dicing the cucumber, slice it thin, leaving the peel on for color. Line the ring mold with the slices and then pour in the partially thick ened gelatin mixture. Your gar den salad will be a pretty sight when unmolded on crisp greens.

Tall, scholarly Governor Christian A. Herter is gaining a reputation as a man of swift action when confronted with an emergency of major proportions.

The speed with which the Governor moved, when a section of Massachusetts was devastated by last week's tornado, was typical of the manner in which he has met every crisis that has risen during his five and a half months in office.

He was in the midst of the stricken area within a very few hours after the tornado struck to survey the situation personally and determine exactly what steps the State

The realization came quickly in the midst of the chaos and the confusion that a steady hand was directing the State government. There was no faltering, no indecisiveness as Governor Herter marshalled the forces of the State to aid the region where the tornado had left death and destruction

Begin Study Of Possible Toll Skyway

A suggestion by Walter A Hodgdon, candidate for Mayor of Newton, that the proposed East-West toll superhighway be constructed as an elevated skyway over the Boston and Albany Railroad right-of-way has drawn serious consideration from the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority.

In a statement issued last week, Turnpike Authority Chairman William F. Callahan of Newton said that the Authority is continuing to study two main routes, but engineering studies are also being made on the overhead route.

Three possible railroad routes over which the skyway might pass are the main branch of the Boston and Albany to Riverside, the Highland branch and the Watertown branch of the Boston and Maine Railroad.

Mr. Callahan warned against land speculators who are trying to buy home's cheaply by telling

The overburdened Newton taxpayer received his first good news permanent site. in a long time Monday when the Board of Assessors announced a tax rate of an even $44, a drop of $1.80 from last year's record

raised through real estate and personal property taxes from last year's figure. The tax levies year amount to $9,999,976 whereas last year $10,071,357 was

The new tax rate is $1.80 less than 1952's record of $45.80, but is still well above the 1951 figure of $38. The record jump from 1951 to 1952 was due mainly to the virtual abolishing of the personal property tax by raising the personal exemption to $5,000.

RABBI IRVING MANDEL

Rabbi Mandel Resigns from Temple Shalom

It was announced last Thurs day by the Board of Trustees of Temple Shalom of Newton that Rabbi Irving A. Mandel, its first spiritual leader since June 1950, has resigned from that post effective September 20, 1953. Rabbi Mandel's resignation was accepted with regret at a Board of Trustees meeting this week.

In the three years under Rabbi Mandel's leadership, the Newton Temple has grown to a member-ship of 430 families, with 500 children enrolled in the religious school, and has acquired flourishing member auxiliaries and its

In announcing his departure, Rabbi Mandel expressed his confidence in the temple's growth. "I trust," he said, recalling his sentiments expressed in the congregation's early days, "that Temple The decrease in the rate resulted from the use of surplus city funds to keep down the rate, a jump of around $7,000,000 in assessed valuations during the past year within the city limits, and a larger grant from the state than was received in 1952.

This will bring to the Worcester Red Cross and City Hospital. One hundred and ninety eight pints of blood were collected at last week's Bloodmobile Visit.

Rent Action Is Unlikely Monday

Aldermen Not Expected to Consider Issue

No mention of rent control either for or against - appears on the preliminary docket for Monday's meeting of the Board of Aldermen, lending support to the impression that rent controls will probably be allowed to die a "natural death."

No steps have been taken as yet to have the city accept Chapter 434 of the Acts of 1953, which allows continuance of rent limitations under state control but through a local unpaid board.

Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood is contemplating no action in the matter, since he considers it a legislative decision and not within the province of his executive department.

The controls will lapse July 31 unless action is taken by the aldermen shortly. The aldermen are now on their Summer meeting schedule, which calls for ses sions every three weeks instead of every two.

THIS REALLY RINGS THE BELL!

NOW "The Newton Graphic" scores with 10,159 paid subscribers! (See the audited proof below). This is MORE than any other newspaper, weekly or daily, in the Newtons. And that includes The Boston Globe, The Herald, Traveler, Post and Record-American. We've grown steadily for the two big reasons that any newspaper is able to grow . . . interesting, authentic, complete, accurate and fearless news and editorial coverage PLUS advertising that is read and believed in by our readers. Ours is a tremendous family readership . . . families with money to spend. We ring the front doorbells of 10,159 of these able-to-buy families every week. And THAT'S RINGING THE BELL with advertisers as well... because Newton Graphic readers are Newton shoppers.

Over Ten Thousand

It is a supreme satisfaction to every newspaper to observe its paid circulation mount. It is of even greater satisfaction to a newspaper when that circulation reaches a point where it is not only greater than the circulation of any other newspaper circulating in the area which it serves but also exceeds the circulation of any metropolitan daily newspaper in that area. These are the facts of The Graphic's circulation today.

As was attested to in a message which appeared on Page 3 of last week's issue, The Graphic has an undisputed paid circulation of 10,159 copies each issue. This circulation exceeds the circulation of any other weekly paper in the New England area, if not the entire country. We are, of course, justly proud of this achievement.

To attain such a goal, a newspaper must have reader acceptance and must be a welcome visitor in the home. That The Graphic has this reader acceptance and is a welcome visitor into the majority of homes in Newton, is a proven fact, undisputable and without challenge.

The import of this tremendous circulation as a potential business builder for business men and merchants is also clearly evident by the consistent use of The Graphic by the progressive merchants of Newton, who recognize in this large circulation, the medium for which they have long been looking to put forth their message. These merchants, who have played an integral part in the upward advancement of The Graphic, know the "pulling power" of its circulation and they are satisfied with the results which they have achieved by using The Graphic as their silent salesman.

Newton, its residents and its merchants, now have in The Graphic, a newspaper of which they are proud and which today ranks second to no other newspaper in the entire New England area.

To our subscribers and to our advertisers, The Graphic says "Thank You" for having helped us attain this enviable position and to say further that its future goal will be to maintain its present prestige and if possible, to further increase its scope and usefulness to its readers, advertisers and the leave no notes or forwarding advertisers and the leave no notes or forwarding advertisers. community.

A Much Needed Action

Above-normal tolls of dead and injured in traffic accidents last summer and early this year has prompted the governors of the 11 Northeastern states to invoke the stringent speed control program now in effect on the region's highways.

The program is aimed at speeders because studies have shown that from one-third to one-half of the fatal accidents in the northeastern states occurred because drivers lost control of their vehicles while traveling at excessive speed on the open highway. Excessive speed, it is pointed out, means either going faster than the law allows at speeds of 60 to 80 miles an hour or more, or traveling too fast for conditions in bad weather at night, or on curves and other sections of highways where good driving judgment

There have been several accidents due to motorist running over hose lines that have been laid in the streets. When a heavy truck or auto rides over the hose with water in it, it may cut off the supply of water for a fraction of a second and then allow it to flow again. This unexpected action of the water has been known to throw firemen and severely hurt them. It has also broken many sections of fire hose causing delays in the fire fighting, which result in larger fire losses. A state of emergency was quickly declared. National guardsmen were called in to assist State and local police. Federal help was enlisted, and it was Mr. Herter who secured $500,000 in federal funds to clear away the wreckage and debris.

During his decade in Congress, Herter came to be recognized as one of the nation's foremost authorities on international problems, and some observers feared that he might encounter difficulty in making the adjustment to the sphere of State government. He has proved that apprehension to be baseless and without foundation.

Few Governors have had any more troublesome problems to meet in a period of less than half a year. He has met them decisiveness and despatch.

President Eisenhower has lost little of his tremendous popularity with the people. That was demonstrated clearly during his visits to New Hampshire, North Dakota, South Dakota and Long Island, New York.

In the Black Hills of South Dakoto and As scouting activities for the We learn our promise, laws and year 1952-1953 draw to a close, we songs alike people came out to see and cheer their President, and Ike responded warmly.

Crowds congregated in the towns We'll each be called a good Girl through which he passed, and people came out of their farmhouses or clustered along the highways to greet him. Their enthusiasm appeared about the same as prevailed in the campaign last fall.

But it is unlikely that the President's popularity will/continue undiminished at its present peak if his advisers allow him to deliver informal, off-the-cuff speeches before President Eisenhower is not a deft or skilled orator. He speaks with the ring of Hill, then had a cook out, making sincerity, and at times he works a goodnatured humor into his remarks that warms his listeners.

He is not, however, an accomplished speaker as office-holders go. That is understandable because until a year ago he was almost strictly a military man, save for the brief period he spent at Columbia University, and he had little experience at talking

His best speeches in the campaign last his rear-platform, off-the-cuff talks were

At the Dartmouth Commencement last Sunday, he spoke without either a manuscript or notes, and the results must have caused shivers of apprehension for his political advisers.

Experienced newspaper reporters disagreed after his speech as to what he had said, and even after the text of his remarks was supplied by a stenographer there was a sharp difference of opinion as to what he had meant to say.

That may sound rather confusing to the average reader, but the fact was that it was possible to interpret a portion of Jke's speech two different ways.

If a Governor or Senator had delivered the same address, newspaper reporters would have immediately asked him to explain exactly what he had meant, and the confusion would have been cleared up at a President of the United States who is ringed by Secret Service agents and is rarely accessible to newsmen except at regularly arranged press conferences. It wasn't possible at Hanover last Sun-

As far as one could judge from listening to him and from later analyzing the stenographic versions of what he said, it appeared that Ike was telling his listeners that American communists are part of America and that "even if their thoughts and ideas are contrary to ours, they have the right to record them, to say them, and to have them in places where they are accessible to others, or it is not American."

That would be a sensational utterance, indeed, for a President of the United States. It would be a fair interpretation of his remarks. Yet, this writer who heard him had the feeling that that wasn't what he meant to say and that he wasn't expressing his own ideas clearly. It's well to remember, too, that it isn't always easy to know when an inexperienced speaker leaves one thought and swings to another. But when the President of the United States makes a speech, his words not only are reported in this country but around the world. It's perfectly ridiculous for them to be open to conflicting interpretations.

President Eisenhower's relationship with the Republican majority in the two branches of Congress has not been nearly as amicable as it has appeared on the surface.

Fundamental differences exist between the President and some G.O.P. Senators and Congressmen that can never really be bridged, and a sizeable number of Republican members have followed the White House leadership protestingly only after being whipped into line.

The man who functioned effectively between the President and the U.S. Senate was Robert A. Taft who only a year ago at this time was fighting desperately to gain the Republican Presidential nomination.

Whatever Taft's personal feelings may have been toward some of the men around President Eisenhower, he put them aside and adopted the role of go-between for the President and the Senate. His stature was such that he could steer the President's legislative course and could command attention even from Ike when he Taft was able to prevent any open clash and conflict between the executive and legislative branches of the national government, and when he and President Eisenhower had agreed upon a program, he was usually successful in persuading Republican Senators to support it.

Now Taft has had to relinquish his rigorous role because of a serious back condition, and Senator William F. Knowland of California has taken over his duties as acting majority leader in the Senate. But if Taft is absent from Capitol Hill for any extended period of time, there is a feeling that President Eisenhower may encounter opposition from some members of his own party who up to now have been persuaded by Taft to go along with the administration in the interest of party harmony even when they were not in agree-

SO BEAUTIFUL! SO POWERFUL!

SO ROOMY! SO LOW IN PRICE!

Judge Pontiac purely from the standpoint of quality and it's hard to believe that it is actually a low-priced car. Certainly it's as distinctively styled as any car on the road-and its beauty carries through into its luxurious, roomy Body by Fisher. Performancewise, Pontiac is second to none, with power to spare that whisks you through city traffic or cruises with remarkable economy. And Pontiac is a big car, with a long, 122-inch wheelbase.

But Pontiac's outstanding feature is its price-a price so low that if you can afford any new car you can afford a Pontiac. Come in and get the facts that prove that dollar for dollar you can't beat a Pontiac!

2 IRONS IN 1

You would never believe that ironing could be such a breeze. It's easier and faster, too, because this new G-E Steam and Dry Iron is actually 2 irons in 1.

With the button up, you can steam-iron up to half your clothes without sprinkling them first - and press woolen suits without a damp pressing cloth.

Push the button down and this very same iron is a dry iron with "Dial-the-fabric" control to adjust the heat for whatever fabric you're ironing.

Don't wait another day. See this wonderful new G-E Steam and Dry Iron at your General Electric dealer's today!

WATER, ONE DROP AT A TIME, FALLS ON HOT

URNING TO STEAM.

Water in reservoir falls through self-cleaning valve. Drop by drop, it falls onto the hot soleplate, flashes instantly to steam. This means there's no boiler to build up steam pressure inside iron. Iron steams only when in ironing position. Entire process designed for safety, ease and convenience.

By LEE LOUMOS Subscription television (or pay-as-you-see) for special events is still a hotly debated question, but here's an item on it. The Purdue University opinion panel sent postcards to 100,000 Chicago area TV viewers just before the Mar-ciano-Walcott fight (which was blacked out in that area) asking if the recipient was a fight fan and if he would pay $1 to see a championship fight at home on television.

of that number, 79 percent said they were fight fans and 76 percent of these said they would pay to see the fight on their home television screens. Could that be a sign of things to come? Speaking of things to come,

we notice that John Crosby the nationally syndicated tel-evision columnist, bears out our statements that color television is not just around the corner. It may be approved by Christmas (even that's not sure), but the color sets won't be in volume production until 1955. And even then, Crosby points out, color receivers will probably cost between $750 and $900. Just compare that cost with the price of a good black and white set today . . even a quality set, like the new Olympic TV. You'll be surprised how little Olympic's trouble-free performance and beauty of style cost . . Stop in today and see be in volume production unti

Immediately After the Tornado, Insurance Firms Were On the Spot to Provide Prompt Financial Aid Without Red Tape!

INSURANCE FIRMS PLAN PROMPT AID

An operation to provide immediate financial aid through payments of policy claims to tornado sufferers was set in

One company sent nine claim representatives and another transferred 12 claims adjusters and other clerical workers to the area. Agents will call on group policy holders in an effort to reach each individual case in need of aid. Families who have been faced with death or injury will receive the needed financial assistance without delay.

Claims will be honored even though the policies were lost in the storm.

Records in the Worcester offices will substantiate the fact of coverage and will enable agents to handle the claims with nothing more than a phone call by policy holders.

INSURANCE INADEQUACY

It is an astonishing fact that we have no provision for insurance against disasters.

The money that has been hastily supplied by the state and federal gov-ernments, the disaster loans available by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the funds provided by private contribution all go to relieve tragic needs in the stricken Massachusetts areas. The swift response of public and private agencies is one of the heart-warming characteristics of our society. Anybody's catastrophe is everybody's. But there have been disasters be-fore this and there will be disasters again. Surely there must be a way in which adequate insurace could be provided at a reasonable cost.

It is not enough to say that wind insurance was available to all property owners in the tornado area under extended coverage, or that there is insurance for virtually ever disaster except floods. What happened here last week was something no one could reasonably be expected to prepare against. A very prudent person no doubt insures against the total loss of all his buildings and contents. But most of us take a calculated risk that some value will be salvageable from any fire or wind, and that is a reasonable risk to take.

Yet many of the tornado sufferers not only had every cent of value extinguished, but even ordinarily indestructible values, like landscaping or location in an attractive neighborhood, were wiped out. Certainly there were special and unforeseeable losses against which a prudent owner would not be expected to insure.

What is the answer to this prob-

Insurance against major disaster should not be expensive, since the risk to any single property owner is slight. The cost might well be less than the cost of additional coverage necessary to meet the full risk under existing insurance for those who now do not insure against total loss. Yet an incentive for full coverage under standard insurance would remain, since the destruction of a single property would not be covered by a disaster policy.

We can offer no suggestion as to how it is to be done, since that is a problem for the professionals in the complex business of underwriting. But certain it is that in disasters there lies a risk which has not yet been met by the basic principle of common sharing.

Here is a challenge to the insur-

-Reprint from Boston Herald

NEWTON IMSURANCE AGENCIES LISTED ACCEPT THE CHALLENGE!

These Newton agencies accept the challenge. It is understood that the average provident property owner today insures his home for fire, lightning and some extended coverage. This gives the property owner all coverage on such risks as falling aircraft, explosions, vehicles out of control and other minor deductibles. But, substantially, in order that full and complete coverage may be had by each property owner in the Newtons, a com-bination of the above coverage plus the all important extended coverage number four which includes the home-owners personal effects if covered adequately as to their relative value, should suffice in such a disaster such as the Worcester area experienced this past week.

Rep. Herter's Departure Would Be Real Loss for Newton . . . Governor's Son Has Won Recognition by His Own Ability . . .

It will be a real loss to both the City of Newton and the State government, if able, young Representative Christian A. Herter, Jr., resigns from the State Legislature at the close of its present session and accepts a federal position in Washington, as it has been reported he will.

Representative Herter himself has declined to discuss his future plans. But the Governor, in response to questions put to him by reporters at a press conference, is enough to make it plain that his son at least has such a move under

It would mean that the Republican party will lose two of its outstanding members in the House of Representatives, both of them from Newton, Representative Herter and Howard Whitmore, Jr., who undoubtedly will be elected the city's next Mayor and will be forced to resign from his legislative post in order to devote himself to his municipal duties. Special elections presumably would be held next year to fill the seats of Herter and Whitmore if, through a strange turn of political events, they both withdraw from the legislature, as now seems highly probable.

Future of Controls on Local Rentals Still Is Uncertain

Whether rent control will remain in effect in Newton or will be allowed to lapse on the July 31 deadline remained in doubt this week after no mention of the controls was made Monday night at the aldermen's meeting.

Only one more aldermanic meeting remains now until the final date when the controls, under state law, must either be accepted by the individual com munities or will automatically be

This meeting will be Monday, July 13. Ordinarily the aldermen meet every other week, but during the Summer they are meeting every third week.

The July meeting will begin at 9:30 p.m., an hour later than the regular time. The Board agreed to this later time Monday night so that committee meet-ings may be held before the al-committee meetings early that Monday evening instead of on a different night.

The state regulations on rent control call for the individual or not they desire continuance. If they decide their own housing problem requires controls, ceilings are then administered by a board appointed by the community.

The Graphic has received numerous telephone calls from persons seeking to find out what is keing done on the controls, and what they can do to make their desires known. Residents of Newton who wish to express an cpinion pro or con regarding rent controls should contact the aldermen from their ward.

Those residents who may not know the names of their aldermen may get the names by con-tacting the City Clerk's Office at Newton City Hall.

The Newton Chapter of Americans for Democratic Action last week came out strongly in favor ADA asked for a public hearing on the matter, and suggested that the aldermanic meetings "be attended in force."

In a letter to Mayor Lock-wood, ADA Chairman Fred L. must drive long distances to reach City Hall during the Summer, the Board decided to have the summer and the summer are the summer. ple of Newton voted to retain rent controls in the primary election last September.

"While this vote is not now legally binding, it would seem to communities to decide whether be a mandate to the mayor and aldermen to give the matter full consideration and prompt implementation. A public hearing should be called to allow New

Asks Parents To Caution Youngsters

The aid of parents in making their children observe traffic safety rules during the Summer months was asked this week by Police Chief Philip Purcell.

Chief Purcell pointed out that. for the past 10 months, the children were "pretty much under control," going to and from school at certain hours and crossing the streets at specific spots.

He praised the "splendid help" given the Police Department by the School Safety Patrols, but noted that the patrols do not opthe vacation erate during months.

There's a great industrialist in Detroit, and a wellknown scientist in New York, and a famous statesman in Washington who will tell you that the best way to relax from the cares of the day is to get behind the wheel of a 1953 Cadillac.

And there are also thousands upon thousands of other Cadillac owners throughout America who will gladly add supporting testimony to these revealing

For these motorists know, from their own personal experience, that there is no faster or surer way to relax and refresh than to take to the highway with a smooth, comfortable, quiet Cadillac car.

It makes a man feel good just to sit behind the wheel. As he glances about his Cadillac's gracious interior, he's reminded that he has made something out of his years-and that, in itself, gives a lift to his spirits.

And then, once he's out on the highway-well, in no time at all, he's as happy and contented and trouble-free as it's possible for a motorist to be.

He is surrounded with comfort-and his driving is so relaxing and effortless and enjoyable that his mind clears, as the miles go by-and his heart grows gay and his outlook bright and hopeful.

He has literally driven his cares away!

You really ought to try it sometime. Come to think of it, you ought to try it today . . . after your day's work is done.

The car is waiting-and so are we

Political Overtones

Of all the promising young men coming along in the two political parties, Christian A. Herter, Jr., ranks very close to the top. The State Legislature could use a great many more men of his caliber, ability and integrity. He already has displayed many of the characteristics which caused the Republican party to draft his father as a candidate for Governor a little more than a

For the past six months, however, he has lived in his father's shadow and has had virtually no political personality of his own. Whenever he cast a vote on the floor of the House of Representatives, observers assumed that he was reflecting the views of the Governor.

He was no longer Representative Christian A. Herter, Jr., of Newton. He was the son of Governor Christian A. Herter, and likeable Representative Herter discovered that everything he did and everything he said was interpreted as reflecting the position of his father at the head of the State government.

Young Herter found, too, as other sons of famous fathers have learned before him, that one of the prices he paid for his father's election, for which he had worked so hard to help achieve, was giving up any public and political life of his own.

This writer is not going to attempt to forecast what he will do, but if he gives up his seat as one of Newton's Representatives in the State Legislature and goes to Washington, he certainly will leave with the admiration and well wishes of those who have watched his short public career.

It may be that Newton will be only loaning him to Washington, for higher honors undoubtedly are in store for the younger Christian Herter.

State Legislature Has Impressive Record . . . Whittier Still Has Eye on Governorship . . .

It's a bit too early yet to assess the accomplishments of this Legislature which will conclude its session in about 10 days or two weeks, but the indications are that it will be able to present a fairly impressive record to the public.

It's a Legislature which has not approved any hundred million dollar bond issues or launched any vastly expensive programs, but it has done a good deal in the field of State government, and it has resisted pressure from minority groups to a greater extent than any of its predecessors.

It's a body that demonstrated it could move with great speed and despatch in an emergency, the manner in which it handled Governor Herter's message on the tornado disaster being a striking example.

A large share of the credit for the accomplishments of this Legislature must go to serious-minded, hard-working Speaker Charles Gibbons who only has a comparatively slim Republican majority in the House of Representatives, yet has been able to maintain a remarkable measure of party discipline.

One of the secrets of Gibbons' success both as speaker and for the previous four years as minority leader in the House has been the effort he put into having his party's legislators on the floor of the House and ready to vote. Where a percentage of the Democrats were disposed at times to break the tedium of the legislative monotony by wandering off to the baseball game or the races, Gibbons has been able to count on the presence of virtually all the G.O.P. House members when he needed them, even bringing in the sick in an emergency. The result has been that much of the time he was able to command a greater practical working majority than the actual political makeup of the House would lead one to expect. Probably the most controversial stand taken by the Republican leadership on Beacon Hill this year was its action in denying a salary increase to the 30,000 State employees.

Whether that was a sound position or a blunder will be argued in political quarters for some time to come, but it certainly was an action that demonstrated courage in the face of the strongest kind of pressure.

The purpose behind the refusal to grant the State workers a raise was to make possible a reduction in the State income tax next year wnen, presumably, an increase of some amount will be voted for the State

This was a Legislature that voted no increases in any taxes, and it probably cleared the way for a tax reduction in 1954. The normal procedure has been to increase taxes in a non-election year and then hold the line the following year. This Legislature, at least, broke away from that custom and added nothing to the tax burden.

There are still a number of important and controversial measures to be acted upon before the legislative books are closed for the year, but as this 1953 Legislature approaches prorogation its record of accomplishments is a reasonably good one.

Reports have been circulated in Republican quarters recently that Lieutenant Governor Sumner G. Whittier may revise his political objectives next year and seek election to Congress in the Angier Goodwin district instead of running for a second

It does not appear that there is any substance whatever to the rumors. Whittier has his eye on the Governorship, and he probably will keep himself in a position to bid for it, presumably in 1956.

Goodwin, however, may be appointed to the bench before the expiration of his present term to make way for a stronger Republican candidate to run in his place next year. While he is regarded as a competent, hard-working Congressman, Goodwin has not proved himself a potent vote-getter, and he has had some near-misses in his district.

Unless his district is gerrymandered next year to give it additional Republican strength, the likelihood is that he may be "promoted" out of Congress and into the

That, however, would not necessarily send Whittier out campaigning for Goodwin's seat on Capitol Hill. He probably will remain on the State ticket next year, endeavor to build his political fences throughout the Commonwealth and prepare for his big push in 1956.

Some political observers foresee a battle Whittier and Congressman Laurence Curtis in 1956 for the G.O.P. gubernatorial nomination. That, of course, may prove to be long-distance crystal ball gazing, but it certainly is not improbable.

Curtis announced his candidacy for the Governorship in 1952 but withdrew from that contest and ran for Congress after didate for Lieutenant Governor in 1950, made a strong run and would have achieved election but for the virtual collapse of the late Arthur W. Coolidge at the head of the G.O.P. ticket in the closing stages of that campaign.

One thing to remember about the present Republican setup is that any battle for a G.O.P. nomination for State-wide office would come pretty close to being decided at the party's State convention.

A candidate turned down by the convention delegates would still be able to carry his fight to the voters in the popular pri-mary, but the Republicans in the past have shown a disposition to stand by the convention choices, and the contender able to say he was endorsed by the convention would have a tremendous advantage.

Abduction of Illinois Solon Unsolved . . .

Persons who have returned recently from Chicago report that the newspapers there are headlining a fantastic story about a member of the Illinois State Legislature who apparently was kidnapped as he parked his car in his own garage.

Representative Clem Graver, 53, was a

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

Firemen in Peoria, Ill., became suspicious when their unofficial mascot, a 14-year-old boy, almost always managed to arrive at fires before they did. Under questioning he finally admitted that he had started five blazes because he liked "to watch the fire sibility to work at this most imspired go."
